Presentation Marking Guide

Introduction

The presentation is worth 20% of the semester marks for each student. The marking guide assigns a mark out of 10 (with a minimum of 0 and maximum of 10, even after modifiers).

These marks are broken down into content and presentation. The former is the academic merit of the presentation; this isn't a marketing presentation trying to sell a product but one that should include some details on technical matters such as the software stack used and general development methodology. Each group member's presentation should also answer at least part of one of the questions to be addressed.

Having said that, the presentation should also look good and be presented in a fashion that conveys the information clearly. This means things like how well the speaker addresses the audience and whether the information presented is laid out in a way that is easy to understand.

Modifier

When some aspect of the presentation is particularly good or bad and not covered by the rest of the marking scheme, a mark of +/-2 may be awarded as a modifier. The reason must be stated, and the modifiers cannot total more than +/-3per student.

For example, a presenter who uses a particularly fitting example that enhances their presentation may get a bonus for this, while a student who answers a question particularly badly may get a penalty.

CCP Marking Sheet

Group: _____

Speakers: 1 _____
             2 _____
             3 _____
             4 _____
             5 _____

|  | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Content (5) |  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Presentation (5) |  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Modifiers: |  |  |  |  |  |
| Timing (+/-) |  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Teamwork (+/-) |  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |  |